Johnny Mace, who has been disposed of on various occasions to almost every club playing baseball anywhere in the universe, has been finally sold. He will not report to the Richmond club this season. Yesterday Ray Ryan could be supported by the season of in the universe, has been finally sold. He will not report to the Richmond club this season. Yesterday Ray Rayan closed a deal whereby Mace goes to the Maysville, Ky., team of the Ohio State League. The change of climate, it is thought, will bring out the best there is in Mace. No one has ever questioned the ability of the lad who came to Richmond from Petersburg in a swap that netted neither city anything tangible, but he grew rather distinctioned the work while here. Mace is inchined to work while here. Mace is inchined to work while here. Mace is the kind of ball player who promises well, but never quite measures up to the promises—at least this has been the experience of Richmond. Now that he has been sold, there are few who will not wish him success, and Maysville is getting quite a sizeable backstop and a youngster who is destined for something better than the bushes, if he cares to take baseball and the recovery of the Richmond College basketball team got together yesterday afternoon and, without any opposition, unanimously re-elected C. The more one studies the equitable schedule adopted by the Virginia League, the more positive one becomes that it is obviously inequitable. Richmond, so far as the arrangement of dates goes, has the best of it. Norfolk likewise benefits, and Petersburg may come in for a reflex benefit because of the abnormal number of games the Gooders are scheduled to play here. But Roanoke and Portsmouth will find Chevy the going worfully bad, from a finanthe going woefully bad, from a financial standpoint. As pointed out by the Virginian-Pilot, Norfolk and Portsmouth have quite a few conflicting dates, while the parks in both cities will be dark at the same time on at least three occasions. We are not criticizing the schedule.

It was made in a hurry, and was made with one purpose in mind—relieving Richmond of week-end games, tachieved the purpose, but as to its it achieved the purpose, but as to its final result—but we are neither prophet nor the son of a prophet.

Manager Ryan spent his first working day here in comparative quiet. He settled his family in their new home, visited headquarters for a little while and read letters, most of which were from men applying for jobs, and journeved to the ball yard to look over the neyed to the ball yard to look over the lay of the land with a view to recommending certain improvements. Ryan and Newton will again go to the enciosure to-day, but this time they will do a little work. Both got uniforms from Secretary Bradley yesterday, and they will try to work out the winter kinks a little in advance of the regular squad. Toward the end of the week some of the pitching talent will have some of the pitching talent will have arrived, and Ryan wants to be in con-dition to and out just what they have to offer in the way of curves. Frank Irobson, ceach of the Richmond Col-lege baseball squad, has invited Man-ager Ryan and Doc Newton to join his hopefuls and work with them. The invitation has been accepted, and the collegians will be given the advantage ome expert tutelage during the tratory days due to the arrival of Plnehurst, N. C., March 8.—Clever golf by women experts to-day attracted attention here. Miss Gladys Ravenescoft, of England, present holder of the American woman's championship, with Miss Hazel Shannen, of Buff alo, as her partner, recorded a 1 up victory over Mrs. R. H. Earlow and Mrs. J. V. Hurd, both golfers of national reputation. The best-ball score of the victors was a 91. Later to-day Miss Ravenseroft and J. H. Clapp, of Chevy Chase, won a mixed foursbine from Mrs. Barlow and Stuyvesant Leroy, of New York.

An interesting event to-day was the team match in which eighteen pairs, led by H. C. Fewnes, Oakment, and C. L. Becker, Woodland, as captains, participated. Mr. Fownes's team won, 9 1-2 to 8 1-2. The losing team entertained their opponents to-night at a banquet, at which Robert Hunter Weeburn was toastmaster.

"The report that Tris Speaker's new contract calls for the highest salary paid in baseball is not true." said President Navin. "Cobb's contract calls for the higgest salary in the game." The figures were not made public, however.
